

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

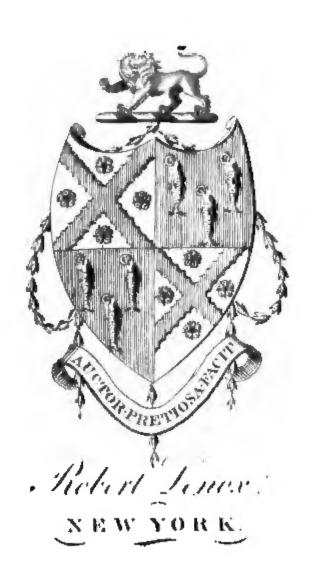

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at http://books.google.com/

IV. The authority of the holy scripture, for which it ought to be believed and obeyed, dependeth not upon the testimony of any man or church, but wholly upon God, (who is truth itself) the author thereof; and therefore it is to be received, because it is the word of God.

V. We may be moved and induced by the teltimony of the church to an high and reverend elteem for the holy scripture^k; and the heavenliness of the matter, the efficacy of the doctrine, the majesty of the style, the consent of all the parts, the scope of the whole, (which is to give all glory to God) the full discovery it makes of the only way of man's salvation, the many other incomparable excellencies, and the entire perfection thereof, are arguments whereby it doth abundantly evidence itself to be the word of God; yet, notwithstanding, our full persuasion and assurance of the infallible truth, and divine authority thereof, is from the inward work of the Holy Spirit, bearing witness, by and with the word, in our hearts!

VI. The whole counsel of God, concerning all things necessary for his own glory, man's salvation, faith and life, is either expressly set down in scripture, or by good and necessary consequence may be deduced from scripture: unto which nothing at any time is to be added, whether by new

But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit; for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea the deep things of God.—For what man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of a man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God.

revelations of the Spirit or traditions of men^m. Nevertheless we acknowledge the inward illumination of the Spirit of God to be necessary for the saving understanding of such things as are revealed in the word, and there are some circumstances concerning the worship of God, and government of the church, common to human actions and societies, which are to be ordered by the light of nature and christian prudence, according to the general rules of the word, which are always to be observed.

Let all things be done to edifying. Let all things be done decently and in order.

VII. All things in scripture are not alike plain in themselves, nor alike clear unto all, yet those things which are necessary to be known; believed, and observed, for salvation, are so clearly propounded and opened in some place of scripture or other, that not only the learned, but the unlearned, in a due use of the ordinary means, may attain unto a sufficient understanding of them.

VIII. The Old testament in Hebrew, (which was the native language of the people of God of old) and the New testament in Greek, (which at the time of the writing of it was most generally known to the nations) being immediately inspired by God, and by his singular care and providence kept pure in all ages, are therefore authentical; so as in all controversies of religion the church is finally to appeal unto them. Of the Perseverance of the Saints.

HEY whom God hath accepted in his Beloved, effectually called and sanctified, by his Spirit, can neither totally nor finally fall away from the state of grace; but shall certainly persevere therein to the end, and be eternally saved.

II. This perseverance of the saints depends, not upon their own free-will, but upon the immutability of the decree of election, slowing from the free and unchangeable love of God the Father^b; upon the efficacy of the merit and intercession of Jesus Christ^c; the abiding of the

Of the Law of God.

OD gave to Adam a law, as a covenant of works, by which he bound him and all his posterity to personal, entire, exact and perpetual obedience; promised life upon the fulfilling, and threatened death upon the breach of it; and endued him with power and ability to keep it².

II. This law, after his fall, continued to be a perfect rule of righteousness; and, as such, was delivered by God upon mount Sinai in ten commandments, and written in two tables^b; the

Of Baptism,

B APTISM is a facrament of the New I ment, ordained by Jesus Christ², not for the solemn admission of the party bap into the visible church^b, but also to be unto a sign and seal of the covenant of grace^c, o ingrafting into Christ^d, of regeneration^c, o mission of sins^f, and of his giving up unto

I. a Mat. 28. 19. Go ye therefore and teach all nations baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Mat. 16. 16.

b I Cor. 12. 13. For by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one Spirit. Gal. 3. 27, 28.

c Rom. 4. 11. And he received the sign of circumcisson, a seal of the righteousness of faith, which he had yet being uncircumcised: that he might be the father of all them that believe, though they be not circumcised: that righteousness might be imputed unto them also. Compared with Col. 2. 11, 12. In whom also ye are circumcifed with the cumcifion made without in putting off the body fins of the flesh, by the cumcifion of Christ:——with him in baptism, walso ye are risen with through the faith of the ation of God, who hath him from the dead.

d Gal. 3. 17. For as of you as have been be into Christ, have pur Christ. Rom. 6. 5. For have been planted toget the likeness of his death shall be also in the like his resurrection.

e Tit. 3. 5. He saved the washing of regener and renewing of the Ghost.

f Acts 2. 38. Peter said pent and be baptized ever which sacrament is, by Christ's own appointment, to be continued in his church until the end of the world'.

II. The outward element to be used in this facrament is water, wherewith the party is to be baptized in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, by a minister of the gospel, lawfully called thereunto.

III. Dipping of the person into the water is not necessary; but baptism is rightly administered by pouring, or sprinkling water, upon the person^k.

of you in the name of Jesus Christ, for the remission of sins. Mark 1. 4. Acts 22. 16.

g Rom. 6. 3, 4. Know ye not, that so many of us as were haptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life.

h Mat. 28. 19, 20. Go ye therefore and teach all nations beptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost;—teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you, and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.

II. 4 Acts 10. 47. Can any man forbid water that these should not be baptized, which have received the Holy Ghost. Acts 8. 36, 38. And as they went on their way, they came unto a certain water: and the eunuch said, See bere is water; what doth hinder me to be baptized? And he commanded the chariot to stand still: and they went down both into the water, both Philip and the eunuch; and he baptized him. Mat. 28. 19. Go ye therefore and teach all nations, baptising them in the name of the Father, and of the son, and of the Holy Ghost.

ill. k Acts 2. 41. Then they that gladly received his word, were baptized: and the same day there were added unto them about three thousand souls. Acts 16. 33. And he took them the same hope of the night, and washed weir stripes.

IV. Not only those that do actually profess faith in, and obedience unto Christ, but also the infants of one or both believing parents are to be baptized.

V. Although it be a great sin to contemn cr neglect this ordinance", yet grace and falvation

And many other things there be, which they have received to hold, as the washing (Greek baptizing) of cups and pots, and of brasen vessels, and tables. Heb. 9. 10, 19, 20, 21.

IV. 1 Mark 16. 15, 16. And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized, shall be saved. Ads 8. 37. And Philip said, If thou believest with all thine And be heart, thou mayelt. answered and said, I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God.

m Gen. 17, 7, 9. with Gal, 3. 9, 14. And I will establish my covenant between me and thee, and thy feed after thee, in their generations for an everlasting covenant: to be a God unto thee and to thy feed after thee. And God faid unto Abraham, Thou shait keep and thy feed after thee, and their generations. So then the Lord touched, and her they which be of faith, we

Col. 2. 11, 12. and Rom. 4. 11, 12. And he received the fign of circumcifion, a feal of the righteousness of the faith which be bad yet being uncircumcifed: that he might be the father of all them that believe, though they be not circumcifed; that righteoufness might be imputed unto them also: And the father of circumcifion to them who are not of the circumcision only, but who also walk in the fleps of that faith, of our father Abraham, which be bed being yet uncircumcised. Alls 2. 38, 39. Repent, and be baptized every one of you, in the name of Jesus Christ, for the remission of fins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghoft. For the promile is unto you, and to your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the my covenant therefore, thou, Lord our God shall call. Acts 16, 15. Lydia, whose heart are not so inseparably annexed unto it, as that no person can be regenerated or saved without it, or that all that are baptized are, undoubtedly, regnerated.

VI. The efficacy of baptism is not tied to that moment of time wherein it is administered, yet notwithstanding, by the right use of this ordinance the grace promised is not only offered, but really exhibited and conferred by the Holy Ghost, to such (whether of age or infants) as that grace belongeth unto, according to the counsel of God's own will, in his appointed time.

V.n Luke 7. 30. But the Pharifees and lawyers rejected the counsel of God against themselves, being not baptized of him. Exod. 4. 24. 25. 26. And it came to pass by the way in the inn, that the Lord met him, and sought to kill him. Then Zipporah took a sharp stone, and cut off the foreskin of her son, and cast it at his seet, and said, Surely a bloody husband art thou to me. So he let him go: then she said A bloody husband thou art, because of the circumcision.

o Rom. 4. 11. And he received the fign of circumcifion, a feal of the righteousness of the faith, which be bad yet being uncircumcifed: that he might be the father of all them that believe, though they be not circumcifed; that righteoufsicfs might be imputed unto them also. Acts 10, 2, 4, 22, p Acts 8. 13, 23. Then Simon himself believed also: and when he was baptized, he continued with Philip, and wondered, beholding the miraeles and signs which were done.—For I perceive that thou art in the gall of bitterness, and in the boud of iniquity.

VI. q John 3. 5, 8. Verily, verily, I fay unto thee, Except a man be born of water, and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. The wind bloweth where it lifteth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth; so is every one that is born of the Spirit.

VII. The lacrament of baptism is but once to be administered, to any person'.

V. The outward elements, in this sacrament, duly set apart to the uses ordained by Christ, have such relation to him crucified, as that truly, yet sacramentally only, they are sometimes called by the name of the things they represent, to wit, the body and blood of Christ^k; albeit, in substance and nature, they still remain truly, and only, bread and wine, as they were before!

VII. Worthy receivers, outwardly partaking of the visible elements in this sacrament", do then also inwardly by faith, really and indeed, yet not carnally and corporally, but spiritually, receive and feed upon Christ crucified, and all be nesses of his death: the body and blood of Christ being then not corporally or carnally in, with or under the bread and wine; yet as really, but spiritually, present to the faith of believers it that ordinance, as the elements themselves are to their outward senses.

VIII. Although ignorant and wicked men receive the outward elements in this facrament, yet they receive not the thing signissed thereby; but by their unworthy coming thereunto are guilty of the body and blood of the Lord, to their own damnation. Wherefore all ignorant and ungodly persons, as they are unfit to enjoy communion with him, so are they unworthy of the Lord's table, and cannot, without great sin against Christ, while they remain such, partake of these holy mysteries, or be admitted thereunto⁹.

VIII. p. 1 Cor. 11. 27, 29. Wherefore, whofoever shall est this bread, and drink this cup of the Lord unworthily, hall be guilty of the body and blood of the Lord. - Q. 78. Whence ariseth the impersection of sanctification in believers?
- A. The imperfection of fanctification in believers ariseth from the remnants of sin abiding in every part of them, and the perpetual lustings of the slesh against the spirit; whereby they are often soiled with temptations, and fall into many sins^c, are hindered in all their spiritual services^d, and their best works are imperfect and defiled in the sight of God^e.
- Q. 79. May not true believers, by reason of their impersections, and the many temptations and sins they are overtaken with, sall away from the state of grace?

Having seen what the Scriptures principally teach us to believe concerning God, it follows to consider what they require as the duty of man.

Q. 91. What is the duty which God requireth of man?

A. The duty which God requireth of man is obedience to his revealed will".

Q. 92. What did God at first reveal unto man as the rule of his obedience?

A. The rule of obedience revealed to Adam in the estate of innocence, and to all mankind in him, beside a special command, not to eat of the fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, was the moral lawo.

Q. 93. What is the moral law?

A. The moral law is the declaration of the will of God to mankind, directing and binding every one to perfonal, perfect, and perpetual conformity and obedience thereunto, in the frame and disposition of the whole man, soul and body,

- Q. 94. Is there any use of the moral law to man since the fall?
- A. Although no man fince the fall can attain to righteousness and life by the moral law, yet there is great use thereof, as well common to all men, as peculiar either to the unregenerate, or the regenerate.
 - Q. 95. Of what use is the moral law to all men?

 A. The moral law is of use to all men, to

Q. 97. What special use is there of the moral law to the regenerate?

A. Although they that are regenerate and believe in Christ, be delivered from the moral law as a covenant of works, so as thereby they are neither justified nor condemned; Yet, beside the general uses thereof common to them with all men, it is of special use, to shew them how much they are bound to Christ for his fulfilling it, and enduring the curse thereof in their stead

- Q. 118. Why is the charge of keeping the subbath more specially directed to governors of families and other superiors?
- A. The charge of keeping the sabbath is more specially directed to governors of families and other superiors, because they are bound not only to keep it themselves, but to see that it be observed by all those that are under their charge; and because they are prone oft-times to hinder them by employments of their own^f.
- Q. 119. What are the sins forbidden in the fourth commandment?

Q. 168: What is the Lord's supper?

A. The Lord's supper is a sacrament of the New Testament, wherein, by giving and receiving bread and wine according to the appointment of Jesus Christ, his death is shewed forth; and they that worthily communicate, feed upon his body and blood, to their spiritual nourithment and growth in grace²; have their union and communion with him consistmed^b; testify and re-

Q. 169. How bath Christ appointed bread and wine to be given and received in the sacrament of the Lord's supper?

A. Christ hath appointed the ministers of his word, in the administration of this sacrament of the Lord's supper, to set apart the bread and wine from common use by the word of institution, thanksgiving and prayer; to take and break the bread, and to give both the bread and the wine to the communicants: who are by the same appointment to take and eat the bread, and to drink the wine; in thankful remembrance that the body of Christ was broken and given, and his blood shed for them.

f Rom. 8. 26. Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities; for we know not what we should pray for as we ought: Q. 183. For whom are we to pray?

A. We are to pray for the whole church of Christ upon earth', for magistrates' and ministers", for ourselves, our brethren, yea our enemies; and for all sorts of men living, or that shall live hereafter; but not for the dead, nor for those that are known to have sinned the sin unto death.

Q. 184. For what things are we to pray?

Shorter Catechism*.

Question 1. IN HAT is the chief end of man?

Answer. Man's chief end is to glorify God, and to enjoy him for ever.

Q. 2. What rule hath God given to direct us here we may glorify and enjoy him?

A. The word of God, which is contained in the scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, is the only rule to direct us how we may glorify and enjoy him.

Q. 3. What do the scriptures principally teach? A. The scriptures principally teach, what man

^{*} The Shorter Catechism is, simply, an abridgment of the Larger; so that the proof of both must be the same. The reader, therefore, who desires to see the scripture authorities for any doctrine taught in this catechism, will turn to that doctrine in the Larger Catechism, which may very easily be done, and there he will find the necessary texts fully referred to, or inserted. It was judged unnescellary to print the very same texts twice over.

is to believe concerning God, and what duty God requires of man.

Q. 4. What is GOD?

- A. God is a Spirit, infinite, eternal, and unchangeable, in his being, wisdom, power, holiness, justice, goodness and truth.

. Q. 96. What is the Lord's supper?

A. The Lord's support is a facrament, wherein, by giving and receiving bread and wine, according to Christ's appointment, his death is shewed forth, and the worthy receivers are, not after a corporal and carnal manner, but by faith made partakers of his body and blood, with all his benefits, totheir spiritual nourishment and growth in grace.

Q. 97. What is required to the worthy receiving of the Lord's supper?

A. It is required of them that would worthily partake of the Lord's supper, that they examine themselves, of their knowledge to discern the Lord's body, of their faith to feed upon him, of their repentance, love, and new obedience; lest coming unworthily, they eat and drink judgment to themselves.

Q. 98. What is prayer?

A. Prayer is an offering up of our desires unto God, for things agreeable to his will, in the name, of Christ, with confession of our sins, and thankful acknowledgment of his mercies.

Q. 99. What rule bath God given for our direction in prayer?

A. The whole word of God is of use to direct us in prayer, but the special rule of direction is that form of prayer which Christ taught his disciples, commonly called, The Lord's Prayer.

Q. 100. What doth the preface of the Lord's prayer teach us?

A. The preface of the Lord's prayer, which is, (Our Father which art in heaven,) teacheth us to draw near to God with all holy reverence and confidence, as children to a father, able and ready to help us, and that we should pray with and for others.

Q. 101. What do we pray for in the first peti-

A. In the first petition which is, (Hallowed be thy name,) we pray that God would enable us and others to glorify him in all that whereby he maketh himself known, and that he would dispose of all things to his own glory.

Q. 102. What do we pray for in the second pe-

A. In the second petition, which is, (Tby kingdom come,) we pray that Satan's kingdom may be destroyed, and the kingdom of grace may be advanced, ourselves and others brought into it, and kept in it, and that the kingdom of glory may be hastened.

Q. 103. What do we pray for in the third pe-

- As In the third petition, which is, (Thy will be done on earth as it is in beaven,) we pray that God by his grace would make us able and willing to know, obey, and submit to his will in all things. as the angels do in heaven.
- Qu 104. What do we pray for in the fourth peti-.
- A. In the fourth petition, which is, Giveus this day our daily bread, we pray that of God's. free gift we may receive a competent portion of the good things of this life, and enjoy his bleffing; with them.
- Q 105. What do we pray for in the fifth petho
- A. In the fifth petition, which is, (And foregive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors,) we pray that God, for Christ's sake, would freely pardon all our sins; which we are the rather encouraged to ask, because by his grace we are: enabled from the heart to forgive others.
- Q: 106. What do we pray for in the fixth peth-
- As In the fixth petition, which is, (And lead! we not into temptation, but deliver us from evil,) we: pray that God would either keep us from being: tempted to fin, or support and deliver us when we are tempted.
- Q. 107. What doth the conclusion of the Lordis.
 prayer teach us? I i 3

A. The conclusion of the Lord's prayer, which is (For thine is the kingdom, the power and the glory for ever. Amen.) teacheth us to take our encouragement in prayer from God only, and in our prayers to praise him, ascribing kingdom, power, and glory to him; and in testimony of our desire and assurance to be heard, we say, Amen.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS.

EXODUS. XX.

OD spake all these words, saying, I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.

I. Thou shalt have no other gods before me.

II. Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing, that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth. Thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: For I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and sourth generation of them that hate me: and shewing mercy unto thousands of them that love me, and keep my commandments.

His. Those shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in wain: For the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain.

holy. Six days shalt thou labour, and do all thy work. But the seventh day is the sabbath of the Lord thy God: In it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy manservant, nor thy maid-servant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates. For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day: wherefore the Lord blessed the sabbath-day and hallowed it.

days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

. VI. Thou shalt not kill.

VII. Thou shalt not commit adultery.

VIII. Thou shalt not steal.

IX. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour.

X. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's house, thousehalt not covet thy neighbour's wife, nor his man-servant, nor his maid-servant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbour's.

The LORD's PRAYER, Matth. vi.

UR Father which art in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven: Give us this day our daily bread Apth forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtofs: And fead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory. for ever. Amen.

The CREED.

BELIEVE in God the Father almighty, maker of heaven and earth; and in Jesus Christ his only Son, our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, dead and buried; he descended into hell, the third day he rose again from the dead, he ascended into heaven, and sitteth on the right hand of God the Father almighty; from thence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead. I believe in the Holy Ghost, the holy catholic church, the communion of saints, the forgiveness of fins, the resurrection of the body, and the life everlasting. Amen.

End of The Cattenism.

i c. Continued in the flate of the dead, and under the power of south, until the third day.

FORM

GOVERNMENT AND DISCIPLINE

OF THE

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

IN THE

UNITED STATES or AMERICA.

Philadelphia:

PRINTED IN THE YEAR 1806.

INTRODUCTION.

judging it expedient to ascertain and fix the system of union, and the sorm of Government and Discipline of the Presbyterian Church in these United States, under their care; have thought proper to lay down, by way of introduction, a sew of the general principles by which they have been hitherto governed, and which are the ground work of the following plan. This, it is hoped, will, in some measure, prevent those rash misconstructions, and uncandid restections, which usually proceed from an imperfect view of any subject; as well as make the several parts of the system plain, and the whole plan perspicuous and sully understood.

The Synod are unanimously of opinion;

I. That "God alone is Lord of the conscience; and hath left it free from the doctrine and commandments of men, which are in any thing contrary to his word, or beside it in matters of suith or worship:" Therefore, they consider the rights of private judgment, in all matters that respect religion, as univerfal, and unalienable: They do not even wish to see any religious constitution aided by the civil power, further than may be necessary for protection and security, and, at the same time, equal and common to all others.

Il. That, in perfect confishency with the above principle of common right, every Christian church, or union or association of particular churches, is entitled to declare the terms of admission into its communion and the qualification, of its ministers and members, as well as the whole system of its internal government which Christ hath appointed: That, in the exercise of this right, they may, notwithstanding, err, in making the terms of communion either too lan or too narrow: yet, even in this case, they do not infringe upon the liberty, or the rights of others, but only make an improper use of their own.

III. That our bleffed Saviour, for the edification of the visible church, which is his body, hath appointed officers, not only to preach the gospel and adminisher the sacraments; but also to exercise dissipline, for the preservation both of truth and duty: and, that it is incumbent upon these officers, and upon the whole Church, in whose name they all, to censure, or cast out, the erroneous and scandalous; observing, in all cases, the rules contained in the word of God.

IV. That truth is in order to goodness; and the great touchstone of truth, its tendency to promote beliness; according to our Saviour's rule, "by their fruit sither more pernicious or more absurd, than that which brings truth and falshcod upon a level, and represents it as of no consequence what a man's opinions are. On the contrary, they are persuaded, that there is an inseparable connection between faith and practice, truth and duty. Otherwise, it would be of no consequence either to discover truth, or to embrace it.

- V. Ibat while under the conviction of the above principle, they think it never fury to make effectual provision, that all who are admitted as Teachers, he found in the faith; they also believe, that there are truths and forms, with respect to which men of good characters and principles may differ: And in all these, they think it the duty, both of private Christians and societies, to exercise mutual forbearance towards each other.
- VI. That though the character, qualifications, and authority of church-officers, are laid down in the boly scriptures, as well as the proper method of their investiture and institution; yet the election of the persons to the exercise of this authority, in any particular society, is in that society.

VII. That all church power, whether exercised by the body in general, or, in the way of representation, by delegated authority, is only ministerial and declarative; That is to say, that the boly scriptures are the only rule of faith and manners; that no church judicatory ought to pretend to make iaws, to and that all their decisions should be founded upon the revealed will of God. Now though it will easily be admitted, that all synods and councils may err, through the frailty inseparable from humanity; yet there is much greater danger, from the usur ped claim of making laws, than from the right of judging upon laws already made, and common to all who prosess the gospel; although this right, as necessity requires in the present state, be lodged with fullible men.

VIII. Lastly, That, if the preceding scriptural and rational principles be stedfastly adhered to, the vigor and strictness of its discipline will contribute to the glory and happiness of any church. Since ecclessastical discipline must be purely moral or spiritual in its object, and not attended with any civil effects, it can derive no force whatever, but from its own justice, the approbation of an impartial public, and the countenance and blessing of the great Head of the church universal.

Sect. II. The general affembly shall consist of an equal delegation of bishops and elders

The radical principles of presbyterian church government and discipline are;—That the several different congregations of believers, taken collectively, constitute one church of Christ, called emphatically the church;—that a larger part of the church, or a representation of it, should govern a smaller, or determine matters of controversy which arise therein;—that, in like manner, a representation of the whole should govern and determine in regard to every part and to all the parts united, that is, that a majority shall govern. And, consequently, that appeals may be carried from lower to higher judicatories, till they be finally decided by the collected wisdom and united voice of the whole church. For these principles and this procedure, the example of the apostles and the practice of the primitive church is considered as authority.—See Acts 15. 1, 2, 4, 6, and from the 24to the 29th, verses; also Acts 16. 14, and the proofs addusted under the three last chapters.

in the accusation, the times, places, and circumstances, should be ascertained, if possible; that the accused may have an opportunity to prove an alibi, or to extenuate, or alleviate his crime.

- 3. No complaint or information, on the subject of personal and private injuries, shall be admitted, unless those means of reconciliation, and of privately reclaiming the offender, have been used, which are required by Christ. Mat. xviii. 15, 16. And, in all cases, the ecclesiastical judicatories, in receiving accusations, in conducting processes, or inflicting censures, ought to avoid, as far as possible, the divulging of offences, to the scandal of the church: because the unnecessary fpreading of scandal hardens and enrages the guilty, grieves the godly, and dishonours religion. And if any private Christian shall industriously ipread the knowledge of an offence, unless in prosecuting it before the proper judicatories of the church, he shall be liable to censure, as an uncandid flanderer of his brother.
- 4. When complaint is made of a crime, cognizable before any judicatory, no more shall be done at the first meeting, unless by consent of parties, than to give the accused a copy of each charge with the names of the witnesses to support it; and a citation of all concerned, to appear at the next meeting of the judicatory, to have the matter fully heard and decided. be given to the parties concerned, at least ten days, previously to the meeting of the judicatory.

- 6. When an accused person, or a witness, refuses to obey the citation, he shall be cited a second, and third time; and if he still continue to refuse, he shall be excluded from the communion of the church, for his contumacy; until he repent.
- 7. No crime shall be considered as established by a single witness.
- 8. The oath or affirmation, to be taken by a witness, shall be administered by the moderator, and shall be in the following, or like terms: "I solemnly promise, in the presence of the omniscient and heart-searching God, that I will declare the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth; according to the best of my knowledge, in the matter in which I am called to witness, as I shall answer it to the great Judge of quick and dead."
- 9. The trial shall be open, fair, and impartial. The witnesses shall be examined in the presence of the accused; or at least after he shall have received due citation to attend: and he shall be per-prove their knowledge; to confirm their habits of worthip, and their defire of the public ordinances; to augment their reverence for the most high God; and to promote the charitable affections which unite men most firmly in society: It is recommended, that every vacant congregation meet together, on the Lord's day, at one or more places, for the purpose of prayer, singing praises, and reading the holy scriptures, together with the works of such approved divines, as the presbytery, within whose bounds they are, may recommend, and they may be able to procure; and that the elders or deacons be the persons who shall preside, and select the portions of scripture, and of the other books to be read; and to see that the whole be conducted in a becoming and orderly manner.

CHAP. XXII.

Of Commissioners to the General Assembly.

Sect. I. HE commissioners to the general assembly shall always be appointed by the presbytery from which they come, at its last stated meeting of the meeting immediately preceding the meeting of the general assembly; provided, that there be a sufficient interval, between-that time and the meeting of the assembly, for their commissioners to attend their duty in due season; otherwise, the presbytery may make the appointment at any stated meeting, not more than seven months preceding the meeting of the assembly. And as much as possible to prevent all failure in the representation of the prebyteries, arising from unforeseen accidents to those sirst appointed, it may be expedient for each presbytery, in the room of each commissioner, to appoint also an alternate commissionto supply his place, in case of necessary absence.

Sect. II. Each, commissioner, before his name shall be entolled as a member Form of a Commission. of the assembly, shall produce, from his presbytery, a commission under the hand of the moderator and clerk, in the following or like form: viz.

"The presbytery of being met at on the day of doth hereby appoint bishop of the congregation of ruling el-OF der in the congregation of 28 the case may be;]" (to which the presbytery may, if they thing proper, make a substitution in the following form, "or in case of his abfence, then bishop of the congregation of [or ·

And of his diligence herein, he is to render an account at his return.

Signed, by order of the Presbytery,

Moderator,

Clerk."

And the presbytery shall make record of the appointment.

Sect. III. These commissions shall, if possions ble, be delivered to the clerk of the shall be delivered to the affembly, in proper season, that he vered to the Clerk at the may have the roll of the affembly first Session. completed before the first session. Commissions, not produced at the opening of the affembly, shall afterwards be delivered only in the intervals between the sessions. No commissioner shall have a right to deliberate or vote in the affembly, until his name shall have been enrolled by the clerk, and his commission publicly read, and filed among the papers of the affembly.

Sect. IV. The general assembly shall meet, The Assembly at least once in every year; their shall meet once first meeting to be on the third a Year. Thursday of May, 1789, in the Second Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia, and afterwards on their own adjournments. If there be not a sufficient number, for the transaction of business, convened before 12 o'clock, on that day, those who are present shall have power to adjourn, from day to day, till a sufficient number shall have met to constitute an assembly.

Sect. V. On the day to which the general And shall be assembly stands, adjourned, and between the hours of eleven and twelve, opened with a Sermon. the moderator of the last general asfembly, if prefent; or, in case of his absence,. the senior minister present, shall open the meeting with a fermon. After fermon, the members being in the house where the assembly is to hold its sessions, the same minister who preach. ed shall, by prayer, publicly implore the bleffing and direction of Almighty God; and shall con-. tinue to preside till a new moderator be chosen. For this purpose he shall call for the commissions. of those present; which being read, and the names of the members enrolled in order, if there: be a quorum, they shall choose a moderator.

Sect. VI. Each session of the assembly, as of Mode of dissolv- all the other judicatories of the ing the Assembly. church, shall be introduced and concluded with prayer. And the whole bufiness of the assembly being finished, and the vote being taken for dissolving the present assembly, the moderator shall say from the chair: "By virtue of the authority delegated to me by the church, let this general assembly be dissolved; and I do hereby dissolve it, and requir; another assembly chosen in the same manner, to meet at on the that may arise in our churches, we agree to observe the following rules of proceeding.

- 1. Inasmuch as all baptized persons are members of the church, they are under its care, and subject to its government and discipline: and, when they have arrived at the years of discretion, they are bound to perform all the duties of church-members.
- 2. No acculation shall be admitted, as the foundation of a process before an ecclesiastical judicatory, but where such offences are alledged, as appear, from the word of God, to merit the public notice and censure of the church. And, in the accusation, the times, places, and circumstances, should be ascertained, if possible; that the accused may have an opportunity to prove an alibi, or to extenuate, or alleviate his crime.

- 3. No complaint or information, on the subject. of personal and private injuries, shall be admitted, unless those means of reconciliation, and of privately reclaiming the offender, have been used, which are required by Christ. Mat. xviii. 15, 16. And, in all cases, the ecclesiastical judicatories, in receiving accusations, in conducting processes, or inflicting censures, ought to avoid, as far as possible, the divulging of offences, to the scandal of the church: because the unnecessary fpreading of scandal hardens and enrages the guilty, grieves the godly, and dishonours religion. And if any private Christian shall industriously spread the knowledge of an offence, unless in prosecuting it before the proper judicatories of the. church, he shall be liable to censure, as an uncandid slanderer of his brother.
- 4. When complaint is made of a crime, cognizable before any judicatory, no more shall be done at the first meeting, unless by consent of parties, than to give the accused a copy of each charge with the names of the witnesses to support it; and a citation of all concerned, to appear at the next meeting of the judicatory, to have the matter fully heard and decided. Notice shall be given to the parties concerned, at least ten days, previously to the meeting of the judicatory.

- 5. The judicatory, in many cases, may find it more for edification, to send some members to converse, in a private manner, with the accused person; and, if he confess guilt, to endeavour to bring him to repentance, than to proceed immediately to citation.

The oath or affirmation, to be taken by a witness, shall be administered by the moderator, and shall be in the following, or like terms: "I solemnly promise, in the presence of the omniscient and heart-searching God, that I will declare the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth; according to the best of my knowledge, in the matter in which I am called to witness, as I shall answer it to the great Judge of quick and dead."
- 9. The trial shall be open, fair, and impartial. The witnesses shall be examined in the presence of the accused; or at least after he shall have received due citation to attend: and he shall be permitted to ask any questions tending to his own exculpation.

- 10. No witness, afterwards to be examined, shall be present during the examination of another witness, on the same case.
- 11. The testimony given by witnesses, must be faithfully recorded, and read to them, for their approbation or subscription.
- on the records of the judicatory: and the parties shall be allowed copies of the whole proceedings, if they demand them. In case of references, or appeals, the judicatory appealed from shall send authentic copies of the whole process to the higher judicatories: and it shall be considered as regular, for any member or members who may have diffented from the judgment of the inferior judicatory, to state and support their reasons, on the appeal.
 - 13. The person sound guilty shall be admonished, or rebuked, or excluded from church privileges, as the case shall appear to deserve; and this only till he gave satisfactory evidence of repentance.
 - 14. The sentence shall be published, only in the church or churches which have been offended. Or, if it be a matter of small importance, and it shall appear most for edification not to publish it, it may pass only in the judicatory.
- 15. Such gross offenders as will not be reclaimed by the private or public admonitions of the church, are to be cut off from its communion, agreeably to our Lord's direction, Mat.

ing the incessuous person, a Cor. ver. 1—5. But as this is the highest censure of the church, and of the most solemn nature, it is not to be inslicted without the advice and consent of, at least, the presbytery under whose care the particular church is, to which the offender belongs; or the advice of a higher judicatory, as the case may appear to require.

16. All processes in cases of scandal shall commence, within the space of one year after the crime shall have been committed; unless it shall have become recently flagrant.

17. When any member shall remove from one congregation to another, he shall produce proper testimonials of his church-membership, before he be admitted to church-privileges; unless the church, to which he removes, has other satisfactory means of information.

CHAP. II.

Of Process against a Bishop or Minister.

S the success of the gospel, in a great meafure, depends upon the credit and good report of its ministers, each presbytery ought, with the greatest attention, to watch over all its members; and be careful to censure them, when necessary, with impartiality; either for personal crimes, which they may commit in common with other men; or those that are vocational, arising from the manner in which they may discharge their important office.

- r. Process, against a gospel minister, shall always be entered before the presbytery of which he is a member. And, in case it shall be found that the facts with which he shall be charged happened without the bounds of his own presbytery, they shall send notice to the presbytery within whose bounds they did happen: and desire that presbytery, either (if within convenient distance) to cite the witnesses to appear at the place where the trial began, or, if otherwise, to take the examination themselves, and transmit an authentic record of their testimony. Always giving due notice to the accused person of the time and place of such examination.
- 2. Nevertheless, in case of a minister being supposed to be guilty of any crime, or crimes, at such a distance from his usual place of residence, as that the offence is not likely to become otherwise known to the presbytery to which he belongs; it shall, in such case, be the duty of the presbytery within whose bounds the facts shall have happened, after satisfying themselves that there is probable ground of accusation, to send motice to the presbytery of which he is a member; who are to proceed against him, and to take the proof by commission, as above directed.

- 3. Process, against a gospel minister, shall not be entered upon unless some person, or persons, undertake to make out the charge; or when common same so loudly proclaims the scandal, that the presbytery find it necessary to prosecute, and search into the matter, for the honour of religion.
- 4. As the success of the gospel greatly depends on the unblemished character of its ministers; their soundness in the faith, and holy, and exemplary conversation; and as it is the duty of all Christians to be very cautious in taking up an ill report of any man; it is especially so of a minister of the gospel. If, therefore, any man know a minister guilty of a private censurable fault, he should warn him in private. But if he persist in it, or it become public, he should apply to some other bishop of the presbytery, for his advice in the matter.
- 5. When complaint is laid before the presbytery, it must be reduced to writing; and nothing farther is to be done at the first meeting, unless by consent of parties, then giving the minister a full copy of the charges, with the names of the witnesses annexed thereto; and citing all parties, and their witnesses, to appear and be heard at the next meeting: which meeting shall not be sooner than ten days after such citation.

- 6. At the next meeting of the presbytery, the charges must be read to him, and his answers heard. If it appear necessary to proceed farther, the presbytery ought to labour to bring him to confession. And if he confess, and the matter be base and slagitious; such as drunkenness, uncleanness, or crimes of a higher nature, however penitent he may appear, to the satisfaction of all, the presbytery must, without delay, sufpend him from the exercise of his office, or depose him from the ministry; and appoint him a due time to confess publicly before the congregation offended, and to profess his repentance.
- 7. The profecutor shall be previously warned, that, if he fail to prove the charges, he must himself be censured, as a slanderer of the gospel ministry, in proportion to the malignity, or rashness, that shall appear in the prosecution.
- 8. If a minister, accused of atrocious crimes, being twice duly cited, shall resuse to attend the presbytery, he must be immediately suspended. And if, after another citation, he still resuse to attend, he shall be deposed as contumacious.
- 9. If the minister, when he appears, will not confess; but denies the facts alledged against him; if, on hearing the witnesses, the charges appear important and well supported, the presbytery must, nevertheless, centure him; and suspend or depose him, according to the nature of the offence.

- ture as to infer deposition: but errors ought to be carefully considered; whether they strike at the vitals of religion, and are industriously spread; or whether they arise from the weakness of the human understanding, and are not likely to do much hurt.
- 11. A minister, under process for heresy or schism, should be treated with christian and brotherly tenderness. Frequent conferences ought to be held with him, and proper admonitions administered. Yet, for some more dangerous errors, suspension becomes necessary. But a synod should be consulted in such cases.
- 12. If the presbytery find, on trial, that the matter complained of amounts to no more than fuch acts of infirmity as may be amended, and the people satisfied; so as little or nothing remains to hinder his usefulness; they shall take all prudent measures to remove the offence.
- 13. A minister, deposed for scandalous conduct, may not be restored, even on his deepest sorrow for sin, without some time of eminent and exemplary, humble, and edifying conversation, to heal the wound made by his scandal.
- 14. As soon as a minister is deposed, his congregation shall be declared vacant.

DIRECTORY

FOR THE WORSHIP OF GOD IN THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.*

Of the Sanctification of the Lord's Day.

Sect. I. IT is the duty of every person to remember the Lord's day; and to prepare for it, before its approach. All worldly business should be so ordered, and seasonably laid aside, as that we may not be hindered thereby from sanctifying the sabbath, as the holy scriptures require.

Sect. II. The whole day is to be kept holy to the Lord; and to be employed in the public and private exercises of religion. Therefore, it is requilite, that there be an holy resting, all the day, from unnecessary labours; and an abstaining from those recreations, which may be lawful on other days; and also, as much as possible, from worldly thoughts and conversation.

The scripture-warrant for what is specified in the various articles of this directory, will be found at large in the Consession of Faith and Catechisms, in the places where the same subjects are treated in a doctrinal form.

Sect. III. Let the provisions, for the support of the family on that day, be so ordered, that servants or others be not improperly detained from the public worship of God; nor hindered from sanctifying the sabbath.

Sect. IV. Let every person and family, in the morning, by secret and private prayer, for themselves and others, especially for the assistance of God to their minister, and for a blessing upon his ministry, by reading the scriptures, and by holy meditation, prepare for communion with God in his public ordinances.

Sect. V. Let the people be careful to assemble at the appointed time; that, being all present at the beginning, they may unite, with one heart, in all the parts of public worship: and let none unnecessarily depart, till after the blessing be pro-nounced.

Sect. VI. Let the time after the folemn services of the congregation in public are over, be spent in reading; meditation; repeating of sermons; catechising; religious conversation; prayer for a blessing upon the public ordinances; the singing of plalms, hymnes, or spiritual songs; visiting the fick; relieving the poor; and in performing small like duties of piety, charity and mercy.

CHAP. II.

Of the Assembling of the Congregation, and their Behaviour during Divine Service.

Sect. I. WHEN the time appointed for public worship is come, let he people enter the church, and take their feats, in adecent, grave, and reverent manner.

Sect. II. In time of public worship, let all the people attend with gravity and reverence; forbearing to read any thing, except what the minister is then reading or citing; abstaining from all whisperings; from salutations of persons present, or coming in; and from gazing about, sleeping, smiling, and all other indecent behaviour.

CHAP. III.

Of the public Reading of the Holy Scriptures.

Sect. I. HE reading of the holy scriptures, in the congregation, is a part of the public worship of God, and ought to be performed by the ministers and teachers.

Sect. II. The holy scriptures, of the Old and New Testament, shall be publicly read, from the most approved translation, in the vulgar tongue, that all may hear and understand.

Sect. III. How large a portion shall be read at once, is left to the discretion of every minister: however, in each service, he ought to read, at least one chapter; and more, when the chapters are short, or the connection requires it. He may, when he thinks it expedient, expound any part of what is read; always having regard to the time, that neither reading, singing, praying, preaching, or any other ordinance, be disproportionate the one to the other; nor the whole rendered too short, or too tedious.

CHAP. IV.

Of the Singing of Pfalms.

Sect. I. IT is the duty of Christians to praise God, by singing psalms, or hymns, publicly in the church, as also privately in the family.

Sect. II. In finging the praises of God, we are to fing with the spirit, and with the understanding also; making melody in our hearts unto the Lord. It is also proper, that we cultivate some knowledge of the rules of music; that we may praise God in a becoming manner with our voices, as well as with our hearts.

440 DIRECTORY FOR WORSHIP, &c.

Sect. III. The whole congregation should be furnished with books, and ought to join in this part of worship. It is proper to sing without parcelling out the plasm, line by line. The practice of reading the plasm, line by line, was introduced in times of ignorance, when many in the congregation could not read: therefore, it is recommended, that it be laid aside, as far as convenient.

Sect. IV. The proportion of the time of public worship to be spent in singing, is lest to the prudence of every minister: but it is recommended, that more time be allowed for this excellent part of divine service, than has been usual in most of our churches.

CHAP. V.

Of public Prayer.

Sect. I. IT feems very proper to begin the public worship of the fanctuary by a short prayer; humbly adoring the infinite majesty of the living God: expressing a sense of our distance from him as creatures, and unworthiness as sinners: and humbly imploring his gracious presence, the assistance of his holy spirit in the duties of his worship, and his acceptance of us through the merits of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

Sect. II. Then, after finging a plalm, or hymn, it is proper that, before sermon, there should be a full, and comprehensive prayer. First, Adoring the glory and perfections of God, as they are made known to us in the works of creation; in the conduct of providence; and in the clear, and full revelation he hath made of himself in his written word. Second, Giving thanks to him for all his mercies of every kind, general and particular, spiritual and temporal, common and special; above all for Christ Jesus his unspeakable gift; and the hope of eternal life through Third, Making humble confession of sin, both original and actual; acknowledging, and endeavouring to impress the mind of every worshipper with a deep sense of the evil of all sin, as such; as being a departure from the living God; and also taking a particular and affecting view of the various fruits which proceed from this root of bitterness:—as, sins against God, our neighbour, and ourselves; sins in thought, in word, and in deed; fins secret and presumptuous; fins accidental and habitual. Also, the aggravations of fin; arifing from knowledge, or the means of it; from distinguishing mercies; from valuable privileges; from breach of vows, &c. Fourth, Making earnest supplication for the pardon of sip, and peace with God, through the blood of the atonement, with all its important and happy fruits; for the spirit of sanctification, and abundant supplies of the grace that is necesfary to the discharge of our duty; for support and comfort, under all the trials to which we are liable, as we are finful and mortal; and for all temporal mercies, that may be necessary in our pullige through this valley of tears. Always remembering to view them as flowing in the channel of covenant love, and intended to be subscrient to the preservation and progress of the spiritual life. Fifth, Pleading from every principle warranted in scripture; from our own necessity; the all-sufficiency of God; the merit and interection of our Saviour, and the glore at God in the comfort and happiness of his people. Sixte. Intercession for others, including the whole world of mankind; the kingdom of Chris. or his church univerful; the church or churchs with which we are more particularly connected: the interest of human fociety in general, and a the community, to which we immediately belong a all that are invested with civil authorize. the minutes of the eventaking going a cone la greconitant with wherever the more pretion in may term necessary, et ilution in w interest of this congregation where a new war Constitution of the Sect. IV. It is easy to perceive, that in all the preceding directions there is a very great compass and variety; and it is committed to the judgment and fidelity of the officiating pastor to insist chiefly on such parts, or to take in more or less of the several parts, as he shall be led to by the aspect of providence; the particular state of the congregation in which he officiates; or the difposition and exercise of his own heart at the time. -But we think it necessary to observe, that although we do not approve, as is well known, of confining ministers to set, or fixed forms of prayer for public worship; yet it is the indispensible duty of every minister, previously to his entering on his office, to prepare and qualify himself for this part of his duty, as well as for preaching. He ought, by a thorough acquaintance with the holy scriptures; by reading the best writers on the subject; by meditation; and by a life of com-= munion with God in secret; to endeavour to acquire both the spirit and the gift of prayer.—Not only so, but when he is to enter on particular acts of worship, he should endeavour to compose - his spirit, and to digest his thoughts for prayer, that it may be performed with dignity and pro-priety, as well as to the profit of those who join : in it; and that he may not difgrace that important service by mean, irregular, or extravagant effulions.

444 DIRECTORY FOR WORSHIP, &c.

CHAP. VI.

Of the Preaching of the Word.

Sect. I. THE preaching of the word being an institution of God for the salvation of men, great attention should be paid to the manner of performing it.—Every minister ought to give diligent application to it; and endeavour to prove himself a workman that needeth not to be ashamed; rightly dividing the word of truth.

Sect. II. The subject of a sermon should be some verse, or verses of scripture; and its object, to explain, defend, and apply some part of the system of divine truth; or, to point out the nature, and state the bounds, and obligation of some duty. A text should not be merely a motto: but should fairly contain the doctrine proposed to be handled. It is proper also that large portions of scripture be sometimes expounded, and particularly improved, for the instruction of the people in the meaning and use of the sacred oracles.

Sect. III. The method of preaching requires much study, meditation and prayer.—Ministers ought, in general, to prepare their sermons with care; and not to indulge themselves in loose, extemporary harangues; nor to serve God with that which cost them nought.—They ought, however, to keep to the simplicity of the gospel; expressing themselves in language agreeable to scripture, and level to the understanding of the meanest of their hearers; carefully avoiding oftentation, either of parts or learning.—They ought also to adorn, by their lives, the doctrine which they teach; and to be examples to the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity.

Sect. IV. As one primary design of public ordinances is to pay social acts of homage to the most high God, ministers ought to be careful, not to make their sermons so long as to interfere with, or exclude the more important duties of prayer and praise; but preserve a just proportion between the several parts of public worship.

Sect. V. The sermon being ended, the minister is to pray, and return thanks to almighty God: then let a psalm be sung; a collection raised for the poor, or other purposes of the church; and the assembly dismissed with the apostolic benediction.

CHAP. VII.

Of the Administration of Baptism.

Sect. I. PAPTISM is not to be unnecessarily delayed; nor to be administered, in any case, by any private person; but by a minister of Christ, called to be the steward of the mysteries of God.

Sect. II. It is usually to be administered in the church, in the presence of the congregation; and it is convenient that it be performed immediately after sermon.

Sect. III. After previous notice is given to the minister, the child to be baptized is to be presented, by one or both the parents signifying their desire that the child may be baptized.

Sect. IV. Before baptism, let the minister use some words of instruction, respecting the institution, nature, use and ends of this ordinance: shewing,

'sfeal of the righteousness of faith; that it is a select of the righteousness of faith; that the seed of the faithful have no less a right to this ordinance, under the gospel, than the seed of Abraham to circumcision, under the Old Testament; that Christ commanded all nations to be baptized; that he blessed little children, declaring that of such is the kingdom of heaven; that children are sederally holy, and therefore ought to be baptized; that we are, by nature, sinful, guilty and polluted, and have need of cleansing by the blood of Christ, and by the sanctifying influences of the Spirit of God.'

The minister is also to exhort the parents to the careful performance of their duty: requiring, of God; that they instruct it in the principles of our holy religion, as contained in the seriptures of the Old and New Testament; an excellent summary of which we have in the confession of faith of this church, and in the larger and shorter catechisms of the Westminster assembly, which are to be recommended to them, as a dopted by this church, for their direction and assistance, in the discharge of this important dusty; that they pray with and for it; that they set an example of piety and godlines before it; and endeavour, by all the means of God's appointment, to bring up their child in the nureture and admonition of the Lord.

Sect. V. Then the minister is to pray for a blessing to attend this ordinance; after which, calling the child by its name, he shall say,

'I baptize thee, in the name of the father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.'

As he pronounces these words, he is to baptize the child with water; by pouring or sprinkling it on the face of the child, without adding any other ceremony: and the whole shall be concluded with prayer.

Although it is proper that baptism be administered in the presence of the congregation; yet there may be cases, when it will be expedient to administer this ordinance in private houses; of which the minister is to be the judge.

CHAP. VIII.

Of the Administration of the Lord's Supper.

Sect. I. HE communion, or supper of the Lord, is to be celebrated frequently; but how often, may be determined by the minister and eldership of each congregation, as they may judge most for edification.

Sect. II. The ignorant and scandalous are not to be admitted to the Lord's supper.

Sect. III. It is proper that public notice should be given to the congregation, at least, the sabbath before the administration of this ordinance, and that, either then, or on some day of the week, the people be instructed in its nature, and a due preparation for it; that all may come in a suitable manner to this holy feast.

Sect. IV. When the fermon is ended, the minister shall shew,

'That this is an ordinance of Christ; by reading the words of institution, either from one of the evangelists, or from 1 Cor. xi. chapter; which, as to him may appear expedient, he 'may explain and apply; that it is to be observ-'ed in remembrance of Christ, to shew forth his' death till he come; that it is of inestimable be-'nesit, to strengthen his people against sin; to 'support them under troubles; to encourage and quicken them in duty; to inspire them with love and zeal; to increase their faith and holy resolution; and to beget peace of c nscience, 'and comfortable hopes of eternal life.'

He is to warn the profane, the ignorant, and scandalous, and those that secretly indulge themselves in any known fin, not to approach the holy. table. On the other hand, he shall invite to this holy table, such as, sensible of their lost and helpless state by sin, depend upon the atonement of Christ for pardon and acceptance with God; such as, being instructed in the gospel doctrine, have a competent knowledge to discern the Lord's body; and such as desire to renounce their fins, and are determined to lead a holy and. godly life.

Sect. V. The table, on which the elements. are placed, being decently covered, the bread in convenient dishes, and the wine in cups, and the communicants orderly and gravely fitting around a the table, (or in their seats before it) in the presence of the minister; let him set the elements. apart, by prayer and thanksgiving. .

The bread and wine being thus fet apart by. prayer and thanksgiving, the minister is to take: the bread, and break it, in the view of the peo-. ple, saying in expressions of this fort,

Our Lord Jesus Christ, on the same night in which he was betrayed, having taken bread,; and bleffed and broken it, gave it to his disciri-

- * ples; as I, ministering in his name, give this
- bread unto you; saying, (here the bread is to
- be distributed) Take, eat; this is my body,
- which is broken for you: this do in remem-
- brance of me.'

After having given the bread, he shall take the cup, and say,

'After the same manner our Saviour also took the cup; and having given thanks, as hath been done in his name, he gave it to the disciples; saying, (while the minister is repeating these words let him give the cup) This cup is the New Testament in my blood, which is shed for many, for the remission of sins: drink ye all of it.'

The minister himself is to communicate, at such time as may appear to him most convenient.

The minister may, in a few words, put the communicants in mind,

Of the grace of God, in Jesus Christ, held forth in this sacrament; and of their obligation to be the Lord's; and may exhort them, to walk worthy of the vocation wherewith they are called; and, as they have professedly received Christ Jesus the Lord, that they be careful so to walk in him: and to maintain good works.'

It may not be improper for the minister to give a word of exhortation also to those who have been only spectators, reminding them, Of their duty; stating their sin and danger, by living in disobedience to Christ, in neglecting this holy ordinance; and calling upon them to be earnest in making preparation for attending upon it, at the next time of its celebration.

Then the minister is to pray and give thanks to God,

For his rich mercy, and invaluable goodness, vouchsafed to them in that sacred communion; to implore pardon for the defects of the whole fervice; and to pray for the acceptance of their epersons and performances; for the gracious 'assistance of the Holy Spirit, to enable them, as they have received Christ Jesus the Lord, fo to walk in him; that they may hold fast, that which they have received, that no man take their crown; that their conversation may be as becometh the gospel; that they may bear. about with them, continually, the dying of the Lord Jesus; that the life also of Jesus may be manifested in their mortal body; that their light s may so shine before men, that others, seeing their good works, may glorify their Father, who is in heaven.

The collection, for the poor, and to defray the expence of the elements, may be made after this; or at such other time as may seem meet to the eldership.

Now let a pfalm or hymn be fung, and the congregation dismissed, with the following or fome other gospel benediction—

- Now the God of peace, that brought again.

- alasting covenant, make you perfect in every good

Sect. VI. As it has been customary, in some parts of our church, to observe a fast before the Lord's supper; to have sermon on Saturday and Monday; and to invite two or three ministers, on such occasions; and as these seasons have been blessed to many souls, and may tend to keep up a stricter union of ministers and congregations; we think it not improper, that they, who chuse it, may continue in this practice.

C'HAP. IX.

Of the Admission of Persons to Scaling-Ordinances. .

Sect. I. CHILDREN, born within the pale of the visible church, and dedicated to God in baptism, are under the inspection and government of the church; and are the apostles' creed, and the Lord's prayer. They are to be taught to pray, to abhor sin, to sear God, and to obey the Lord Jesus Christ. And, when they come to years of discretion, if they be free from scandal, appear sober and steady, and to have sufficient knowledge to discern the Lord's body, they ought to be informed, it is their duty, and their privilege, to come to the Lord's supper.

Sect. II. The years of discretion, in young Christians, cannot be precisely fixed. This must be left to the prudence of the eldership. The officers of the church are the judges of the qualifications of those to be admitted to scaling-ordinances; and of the time when it is proper to admit young Christians to them.

Sect. III. Those who are to be admitted to sealing-ordinances, shall be examined, as to their knowledge and piety.

Sect. IV. When unbaptized persons apply for admission into the church, they shall, in ordinary cases, after giving satisfaction with respect to their knowledge and piety, make a public profession of their faith, in the presence of the congregation; and thereupon be baptized.

CHAP. X.

Of the Mode of inflicting Church-Censures.

Sect. I. THE power which Christ hath given the rulers of his church, is for edification, and not for destruction. As, in the preaching of the word, the wicked are, doctrinally, separated from the good; so, by discipline, the church authoritatively makes a distinction between the holy and the profane. In this she acts the part of a tender mother, correcting her children only for their good, that every one of them may be presented faultless, in the day of the Lord Jesus.

Sect. II. When any member of the church shall have been guilty of a fault, deserving censure, the judicatory shall proceed with all tenderness, and restore their offending brother in the spirit of meekness; considering themselves, less they also be tempted. Censure ought to be inslicted with great solemnity; that it may be the means of impressing the mind of the delinquent with a proper sense of his danger, while he stands excluded from the privileges of the church of the living God; and that, with the divine blessing, it may lead him to repentance.

Sect. III. When the judicatory has resolved to pass sentence, suspending a member from church-privileges, the moderator shall address him, to the following purpose:

'Whereas you are guilty [by your own confession, or convicted by sufficient proof as the 'case may be,] of the sin of [here mention the particular offence] we declare you suspended from the facraments of the church; till you give fatisfactory evidence of the fincerity of your repentance. —To this shall be added such advice, admonition, or rebuke as may be judged necessary; and the whole thall be concluded by pray to almighty God, that he would follow this act of discipline with his blessing. We judge it predent, in general, that such censures be inslicted at the presence of the judicatory only; but, if any church think it expedient to rebuke the offender publicly, this solemn suspension from the sacraments may be in the presence of the congregation.

Sect. IV. After any person hath been thus suspended from the sacraments, it is proper that the minister and elders and other Christians should frequently converse with him, as well as pray for him in private, that it would please God to give him repentance. And it may be requisite likewise, particularly on days preparatory to the dispensing of the Lord's supper, that the prayers of the church be offered up for those unhappy persons who, by their wickedness, have shut themselves out from this holy communion.

Sect. V. When the judicatory shall be satisfied, as to the reality of the repentance of any offender, he shall be admitted to profess his repentance; and be restored to the privileges of the church. Which restoration shall be declared to the penitent in the presence of the session, or of the congregation, and followed with prayer and thanksgiving.

Sect. VI. When any offender has been, with the advice of the presbytery, (as directed in the form of government, &c.) adjudged to be cut off from the communion of the church, it is proper that the sentence be publicly pronounced against him.

Sect. VII. The design of excommunication is, to operate upon the offender as a mean of reclaiming him; to deliver the church from the scandal of his offence; and to inspire all with scar, by the example of his punishment.

The minister shall, at least, two Lord's days before the excommunication, give the congregation a short narrative of the several sleps which have been taken with respect to their offending brother; and inform them, that it has been found necessary to cut him off from their communion.

On the day appointed for that purpose, the minister, after sermon is ended, shall in the prefence of the congregation, pronounce this sentence in the following or like form:

He shall begin by shewing the authority of the church to cast out unworthy members, from Mataviii. 15, 16, 17, 18; 1 Cor. v. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5; and shall briefly explain the nature, use, and confequences of this censure; warning the people to avoid all unnecessary intercourse with him who is cast out.

Then he shall say,

Whereas A.B. hath been, by sufficient proof, convicted of [here insert the sin,] and after much admonition and prayer, obstinately refuseth to hear the church, and hath manifested no evidence of repentance; therefore, in the name, and by the authority of the Lord Jesus Christ, I pronounce him to be excluded from the communion of the church.

After which prayer shall be made that the blessing of God may follow his ordinance for the conviction and reformation of the excommunicated person, and for the establishment of all true believers.

Sect. VIII. When one who hath been excommunicated shall be so affected with his state is to be brought to repentance, and to defire to be re-admitted to the privileges of the church;
the session, having obtained sufficient evidence of his sincere penitence, shall, with the advice and concurrence of the presbytery, restore him. In order to which, the minister shall, on two Lord's days previous thereto, inform the congregation of the measures which have been taken with the excommunicated person, and of the resolution of the session to receive him again to the communion of the Church.

On the day appointed for his restoration, when the other parts of divine service are ended, before pronouncing the bleffing, the minister shall call upon the excommunicated person, and propose to him in the presence of the congregation, the following questions:

'Do you, from a deep sense of your great wickedness, freely confess your sin, in thus rebelling against God, and in refusing to hear his church; and do you acknowledge that you have been in justice and mercy cut off from the communion of the faints? Answer, I do. you now voluntarily profess your sincere re-pentance and deep contrition, for your sin and obstinacy; and do you humbly ask the forgive-ness of God and of his church? Answer, I do. 6 Do you sincerely promise, through divine grace, to live in all humbleness of mind and circumfpection; and to endeavour to adorn the doctrine of God our Saviour, by having your convertation as becometh the gospel? Answer; • I do.'

Here the minister shall give the penitent a suitable exhortation, addressing him in the bowels of brotherly love, encouraging and comforting him. Then he shall pronounce the sentence of restoration, in the following words:

Whereas you, A. B. have been shut out from the communion of the faithful, but have now e manifested such repentance. «s satisfies the church: In the name of the Lord Jetus Christ, and by his authority, I declare you absolved from the sentence of excommunication formerly de*nounced against you; and I do receive you into the communion of the church, that you may be a partaker of all the benefits of the Lord Jesus, to your eternal salvation.'

The whole shall be concluded with prayer, and the people difinisfed with the usual blessing.

CHAP. XI.

Of the Solemnization of Marriage.

Sect. I. ARRIAGE is not a facrament 4, nor peculiar to the church of Christ. It is proper that every commonwealth, for the good of society, make laws to regulate marriage; which all citizens are bound to obey.

Sect. II. Christians ought to marry in the Lord; therefore it is fit that their marriage be solemnized by a lawful minister; that special instruction may be given them, and suitable prayers made, when they enter into this relation.

Sect. III. Marriage is to be between one man and one woman only; and they are not to be within the degrees of consanguinity or affinity prohibited by the word of God.

Sect. IV. The parties ought to be of such years of discretion as to be capable of making their own choice; and if they be under age, or live with their parents, the consent of the parents, or others, under whose care they are, ought to be previously obtained, and well certified to the. minister, before he proceeds to solemnize the marriage.

Sect. V. Parents ought neither to compel their children to marry contrary to their inclinations, nor deny their consent without just and important reasons.

Sect. VI. Marriage is of a public nature. The welfare of civil fociety, the happiness of families, and the credit of religion, are deeply interested in it. Therefore the purpose of marriage ought to be sufficiently published a proper time, previously to the solemnization of it. is enjoined on all ministers to be careful that, in this matter, they neither transgress the laws of God, nor the laws of the community: And that they may not destroy the peace and comfort of families, they must be properly certified with refpect to the parties applying to them, that no just objections lie against their marriage.

Sect. VII. Marriage must always be performed before à competent number of witnesses; and at any time except on a day of public humiliation. And we advise that it be not on the Lord's day. And the minister is to give a certificate of the marriage when required.

Sect. VIII. When the parties present themfelves for marriage, the minister is to defire if there is any person present who knows any lawful reason why these persons may not be joined' together in the marriage-relation, that they will now make it known, or ever after hold their peace.

No objections being made, he is then severally to address himself to the parties to be married, in the following or like words:

'You, the man, declare, in the presence of God, that you do not know any reason by precontract or otherwise, why you may not lawfully marry this woman.'

Upon his declaring he does not, the minister. shall address himself to the bride, in the same or similar terms:

'You, the woman, declare, in the presence of 'God, that you do not know any reason, by precontract: or otherwise, why you may not lawfully marry this man.'

Upon her declaring she does not, he is to begin with prayer for the presence and blessing of God.

The minister shall then proceed to give them, some instruction, from the scriptures, respecting the institution and duties of this state, shewing—

'That God hath instituted marriage for the comfort and happiness of mankind, in declaring a man shall forsake his father and mother and cleave unto his wife; and that marriage is homourable in all; that he hath appointed various duties, which are incumbent upon those who enter into this relation; such as, a high esteem.

462 DIRECTORY FOR WORSHIP, &c.

and mutual love for one another; bearing with each others infirmities and weaknesses, to which human nature is subject in its present lapsed state; to encourage each other under the various ills of life; to comfort one another in sickiness; in honesty and industry to provide for each others temporal support; to pray for and encourage one another, in the things which pertain to God, and to their immortal souls; and to live together as the heirs of the grace of life.

Then the minister shall cause the bridegrooms and bride to join their hands, and shall pronounce the marriage covenant, first to the man, in these words:

You take this woman, whom you hold by the hand, to be your lawful and married wife; and you promise, and covenant, in the presence of God and these witnesses, that you will be unto her a loving and faithful husband, until you shall be separated by death.

The bridegroom shall express his consent, by faying, 'Yes I do.'

Then the minister shall address himself to the woman in these words:

'You take this man, whom you hold by the hand, to be your lawful and married husband; and you promise, and covenant, in the presence of God and these witnesses, that you will be und to him a loving, saithful, and obedient wise, undied you shall be separated by death.'

The bride shall express her consent, by saying, 'Yes I do.'

Then the minister is to say:

'I pronounce you husband and wife, accordating to the ordinance of God; whom therefore God hath joined together, let no man put affunder.'

After this the minister may exhort them, in a few words, to the mutual discharge of their duty.

Then let him conclude with prayer suitable to the occasion.

Let the minister keep a proper register for the names of all persons whom he marries, and of the time of their marriage, for the perusal of all whom it may concern.

CHAP. XII.

Of the Visitation of the Sick.

Sect. I. THEN persons are sick, it is their duty, before their strength and understanding sail them, to send for their minister, and to make known to him, with prudence, their spiritual state; or to consult him on the concerns of their precious souls: And it is his duty to visit them, at their request, and to apply himself, with all tenderness and love, to administer spiritual good to their immortal souls.

Sect. II. He shall instruct the sick out of the scriptures, that diseases arise not out of the ground, nor do they come by chance, but that they are directed and sent by a wise and holy God, either for correction of sin, for the trial of grace, for improvement in religion, or for other important ends: and that they shall work together for good to all those who make a wise improvement of God's visitation, neither despising his chastening hand, nor fainting under his rebukes.

Sect. III. If the minister finds the sick person to be grossy ignorant, he shall instruct him in the nature of repentance and faith, and the way of acceptance with God, through the mediation and atonement of Jesus Christ.

Sect. IV. He shall exhort the sick to examine himself; to search his heart, and try his former ways, by the word of God; and shall assist him, by mentioning some of the obvious marks and evidences of sincere piety.

Sect. V. If the fick shall fignify any scruple, doubt or temptation, under which he labours, the minister must endeavour to resolve his doubts, and administer instruction and direction, as the case may seem to require.

Sect. VI. If the fick appear to be a stupid, thoughtless and hardened sinner, he shall endeavour to awaken his mind; to arouse his conscience; to convince him of the evil and danger of sin; of the curse of the law, and the wrath of God due to finners; to bring him to a humble and penitential sense of his iniquities; and to state before him the sulness of the grace and mercy of God, in and through the glorious Redeemer; the absolute necessity of faith and repentance, in order to his being interested in the favour of God, or his obtaining everlasting happiness.

Sect. VII. If the fick person shall appear to have knowledge, to be of a tender conscience, and to have been endeavouring to serve God in uprightness, though not without many failings and sinful infirmities; or if his spirit be broken with a sense of sin, or through apprehensions of the want of the divine favour; then it will be proper to administer consolation and encouragement to him, by setting before him the freeness and riches of the grace of God, the all-sufficiency of the righteousness of Christ, and the supporting promises of the gospel.

Sect. VIII. The minister must endeavour to guard the sick person against ill-grounded persuasions of the mercy of God, without a vital union to Christ; and against unreasonable sears of death, and desponding discouragements; against presumption upon his own goodness and merit, upon the one hand, and against despair of the mercy and grace of God in Jesus Christ, on the other.

466 DERECTORY FOR WORSHIP, SEE

Sec. IX. In one word, it is the minister's duty to administer to the sick person instruction, conviction, support, consolation or encouragement, as his case may seem to require.

At a proper time, when he is most composed, the minister shall pray with and for him.

Sect. X. Lastly, the minister may improve the present occasion to exhort those about the sick, to consider their mortality; to turn to the Lord and make their peace with him; in health to prepare for sickness, death and judgment.

CHAP. XIII.

Of the Burial of the Dead.

Sect. I. HEN any person departs this life, let the corpse be taken care of in a decent manner; and be kept a proper and sufficient time before interment.

Sect. II. When the season for the suneral comes, let the dead body be decently attended to the grave, and interred. During such solemn occasions, let all who attend, conduct themselves with becoming gravity; and apply themselves to serious meditation or discourse; and the minister, if present, may exhort them to consider the frailty of life; and the importance of being prepared for death and eternity.

CHAP. XIV.

Of Fasting and of the Observation of the Days of Thanksgiving.

- Sect. I. THERE is no day under the gofpel commanded to be kept holy, except the Lord's day, which is the christian sabbath.
- Sect. II. Nevertheless to observe days of fasting and thanksgiving, as the extraordinary dispensations of divine providence may direct, we judge both scriptural and rational.
- Sect. III. Fasts and thanksgivings may be observed by individual Christians; or families, in private; by particular congregations; by a number of congregations contiguous to each other; by the congregations under the care of a presbytery, or of a synod; or by all the congregations of our church.
- Sect. IV. It must be left to the judgment and discretion of every Christian and family to determine, when it is proper to observe a private fast or thanksgiving: and to the church-session to determine for particular congregations; and to the presbyteries or synods to determine for larger districts. When it is deemed expedient that a fast or thanksgiving should be general, the call for them must be judged of by the synod or general assembly. And if at any time the civil power should think it proper to appoint a fast or thanksgiving, it is the duty of the ministers and people of our communion, as we live under a christian government, to pay all due respect to the same.

Sect. V. Public notice is to be given a convenient time before the day of fasting or thanksgiving comes, that persons may so order their temporal affairs, that they may properly attend to the duties thereof.

Sect. VI. There shall be public worship upon all such days; and let the prayers, psalms, portions of scripture to be read, and sermons, be all, in a special manner adapted to the occasion.

Sect. VII. On fast days, let the minister point out the authority and providences calling to the observation thereof; and let him spend a more than usual portion of time in solemn prayer, particular confession of sin, especially of the sins of the day and place, with their aggravations, which have brought down the judgments of heaven. And let the whole day be spent in deep humiliation and mourning before God.

Sect. VIII. On days of thanksgiving, he is to give the like information respecting the authority and providences which call to the observance of them; and to spend a more than usual part of the time in the giving of thanks, agreeably to the occasion, and in singing plalms or hymns of praise.

It is the duty of people on these days to rejoice with holy gladness of heart; but let trembling be so joined with our mirth, that no excess or unbecoming levity be indulged.

CHAP. XV.

The Directory for Secret and Family Worship.

Se&. I. BESIDES the public worship in congregations, it is the indispensible duty of each person, alone, in secret; and of every family, by itself, in private, to pray to, and worship God.

Sect. II. Secret worship is most plainly enjoined by our Lord. In this duty every one, apart by himself, is to spend some time in prayer, reading the scriptures, holy meditation, and serious self-examination. The many advantages arising from a conscientious discharge of these duties, are best known to those who are sound in the faithful discharge of them.

Sect. III. Family worship, which ought to be performed by every family, ordinarily morning and evening, consists in prayer, reading the scriptures, and singing praises.

Sect. IV. The head of the family, who is to lead in this service, ought to be careful that all the members of his household duly attend; and that none withdraw themselves unnecessarily from any part of samily worship; and that all refrain from their common business while the scriptures are read, and gravely attend to the same, no less than when prayer or praise is offered up.

Sect. V. Let the heads of families be careful to instruct their children and servants in the principles of religion—Every proper opportunity ought to be embraced for such instruction. But we are of opinion that the sabbath evenings, after public worship, should be sacredly preserved for this purpose. Therefore we highly disapprove of paying unnecessary private visits on the Lord't day; admitting strangers into the samilies, exceps when necessary or charity requires it; or any other practices, whatever plausible pretences may be offered in their savour, if they interfere with the above important and necessary duty.
